It is time for a change of representation in our district.

I have challenged the incumbent because of his poor policy choices in recent years. He championed the Iraq War without thinking of the long term consequences; as a result leaving us in a Catch 22 situation. He remains a favorite Congressman of out-of-state defense contractors and those economically benefiting from war. The incumbent rushed us into Iraq and, for that mistake, he should be held accountable.

The incumbent remains a steadfast supporter of racial preferences as evidenced by his recent cheerleading for an expansion of local Tribal gaming, leaving all other races without a similar economic opportunity.

Contemporaneous with his decision to support government subsidies of the proposed NASCAR track, he received campaign contributions from the track's supporters.

He has not lived for any substantial length of time in our district for the better part of four decades. Our incumbent Congressman serves out-of-state campaign contributors and those seeking economic monopolies in preference to the true interests of his district.

Now is the time for a new generation of leadership in the Sixth District.
